

LAWYERS TO MAKE DRY LID MORE SOLID

Anti-Saloon League Counsellors Confer With Wheeler in Washington.

Special-Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau,
Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.
Lawyers of the Anti-Saloon League from all sections of the United States flocked to Washington to-day to go into conference with Wayne B. Wheeler, chief counsel, on legal aspects of Volstead law enforcement for 1922.
The meeting was one of the preliminaries of the annual convention proper of the league, which opens here on Tuesday. Another preliminary to the convention closed to-day when a conference of league workers adjourned after indorsing the work of Roy A.

Haynes as Federal Prohibition Commissioner.

The league lawyers while in conference will frame a national programme to stop leaks in the Volstead law, according to Mr. Wheeler.

"We're going to make 1922 dryer than 1921," he said.

Some of the legal aspects of Volstead law enforcement which the league lawyers will discuss, Mr. Wheeler said, are these: Rulings of the Treasury Department with respect to the shipment through the United States of liquor from one wet country to another; more strict control of the operations of wholesale druggists permitted to dispense liquor; more careful inspection of application for permits to export and import liquor; and the question of the right to withdraw liquor from warehouses for personal use when it has been in storage.

Several hundred dry workers representing all States and many civic organizations are expected here next week for the opening of the league convention proper.

Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes to-morrow will supply an overture to the convention in an address in a local church on the results of the Volstead law.

Monday directors of the league will meet to put finishing touches on the convention programme and to make recommendations which will be laid before the delegates. Attorney-General Daugherty is expected to be one of the principal speakers at the convention.

Others listed are former Federal Prohibition Commissioner John F. Kramer, Wheeler and William J. Bryan.
The movement to make dry the entire world will come in for a large share of the convention's attention, it is expected.
Dry leaders contend that real prohibition in the United States will be unusually difficult to achieve while other countries are wet and liquor can be obtained for smuggling.

Other questions to come before the convention will include the disposal of several millions of dollars' worth of whiskey in bonded warehouses, appropriations for the enforcement of the Volstead law, State law enforcement and the education of public sentiment for the Volstead law.
